REPORT FOR 1894.

WITH the Report for 1894 the Directors of the Boston Training School for Nurses feel that they can chronicle a successful year.

The character of the pupils has been most satisfactory, and the instruction given has been broadened and increased in interest.

The expenses of the School have been unusually heavy; and, owing to the death or absence of several annual subscribers, our income has largely fallen off. The Treasurer reports a deficit for the first time. The need of funds is therefore a very serious one, and for the lack of them the usefulness of the School is curtailed in many directions. That this School is not a corporate part of the Massachusetts General Hospital cannot be reiterated too often, or the fact that out of our own funds we must meet our heavy running expenses.

Subscriptions of any amount from our friends will be gratefully received.

The accepted probationers were 37 out of 834 applications. 23 were graduated during the year.

An important development of the instruction given was the establishment of the Cooking School on a new basis. This work had hitherto been done outside the Hospital. Through the efforts of our Directors and the kindness of the Hospital Trustees the cooking classes are now held in the Hospital kitchen, under the very efficient direction of Miss Boland, whose excellent work we wish especially to commend.

Unusual instruction in the autopsy room has been given by Dr. E. F. Burnham during part of the past year. This has been especially valuable to the nurses, and is gratefully appreciated by the Directors, who wish at the same time to thank Dr. Alfred A. Wheeler and Dr. James S. Stone for their instruction in bandaging and apparatus. All of these gentlemen at the time of rendering their services were members of the House Staff at the Hospital.

We must repeat our sense of obligation also to the twenty-two members of the Visiting Staff, who have courteously given us their time for lectures and quarterly examinations.

We feel that the superior character of these lectures, supplemented by the instruction of our Superintendent, is keeping the value of our diploma up to the high standard at which we have always aimed.

BOSTON TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES

ATTACHED TO THE

MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL IN BOSTON.

The Directors of the Boston Training School for Nurses have made arrangements with the Trustees of the Massachusetts General Hospital for giving a two years' training to women desirous of becoming professional nurses.

Persons wishing to receive this course of instruction must apply to the Superintendent of the Boston Training School, Massachusetts General Hospital, Blossom Street, Boston, Mass.

The most desirable age for candidates is from twenty-five to thirty-five years. They must be in good health, and must refer to some responsible person as to their moral character. After approval by the Superintendent of the School and the Resident Physician of the Hospital, they are received for one month on probation. During this month they are boarded and lodged at the Hospital, but receive no compensation.

They are under the authority of the Resident Physician and the Superintendent, and are subject to the rules of the School and of the Hospital. Their fitness for the work, and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them at the end of the month of trial, are determined by the Resident Physician and the Superintendent and Directors of the School; and the same authorities can also discharge them at any time during their connection with the School, in case of misconduct or inefficiency. They reside in the Hospital, and serve as assistant nurses in the wards. When on service, they are required to wear the Hospital uniform.

TRAINING.

Those fulfilling the conditions of the probationary month are accepted as pupils. They must sign a written agreement to remain at the School for two years (including the probationary month) and to conform to its rules.

The instruction includes: —

1. The dressing of burns, sores, and wounds; the preparation and application of fomentations, poultices, cups, leeches, and of minor dressings.

2. The administration of enemata, the use of the catheter, and the giving of baths.

3. The principles of massage, with practical workings.

4. The care of the patient's room; the making of beds; the principles of ventilation, and their practical application.

5. The management and care of helpless patients; the prevention and treatment of bed-sores.

6. The manufacture of bandages; the application of bandages and splints.

7. Emergencies and their treatment.

8. The preparation, cooking, and serving of food; the use of stimulants.

They are also taught how to observe accurately the secretions, expectorations, pulse, skin, appetite, temperature, sleep, eruptions, and the effect of diet, stimulants, and medicine. They are also instructed with regard to the management of convalescents. The instruction is given mainly by the Superintendent and by the Head Nurses. Lectures, recitations, and demonstrations, by members of the Hospital Staff, also take place at stated periods.

Examinations, conducted by a Board of Medical Examiners, are held quarterly.

The pupils are employed as assistant nurses in the wards of the Hospital, and receive ten dollars ($10) a month (after the probationary month) during the first year, and fourteen dollars ($14) a month during the second year, for their personal expenses. The education during this time is considered a full equivalent for their services. During both years of the course they board and lodge at the Hospital. Their washing is also done at the expense of the Hospital. Pupils are required to come prepared to pay for their uniform at the close of the probationary month. The expense of the uniform will not exceed twelve dollars.

When the full term of two years is satisfactorily completed, a diploma is given certifying to their period of training, their proficiency and moral character. The Training School provides a badge to which graduates are entitled on the payment of seven dollars.

The Directors reserve the right to terminate the connection of a pupil with the School for any reason which they may deem sufficient.

A graduate of this School, who desires to acquire a special proficiency in the care of cases of nervous and mental diseases, has the privilege, under certain restrictions, of entering the McLean Hospital Training School for Nurses. Such graduates will, after one year's satisfactory study, receive the diploma from that School, in addition to the one received from the Boston Training School.
